

A photograph of three children standing in front of a large pile of garbage and plastic waste. The child on the left is a girl with a striped shirt, smiling. The child in the middle is a boy in a red shirt, also smiling with his hands clasped. The child on the right is a boy in a red hoodie, looking serious. The background is a chaotic pile of various types of trash, including plastic bags, cardboard, and other debris.

I REFUSE

... to think that this will be my future!

Ethnorêma is alongside the Brook Hills Development Organisation in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, which works to offer a future to children and families currently living in the Qoshe landfill.

Watch and support the “Addis Abeba landfill project” through a donation to Ethnorêma.

ETHNORÊMA

Lingue, Popoli e Culture